Me : You have to help me!

You : What is it?

Me : I'm going to call you tonight.

Me : Do you have time?

You : Yes, but I won't be free until 7:30 tonight.

Me : That's no problem.

You : Okay, then - I'll wait for your call.

Me : Thank you!

You : It's nothing.

You : May I ask who's calling?

Me : It's me!

You : Oh! You're Anna, right?

You : Are you calling me for something?

Me : I want you to help me practice writing Chinese characters.

Me : Is that okay?

You : No problem, but you have to treat me to a meal.

Me : Haha, I know you like Japanese food and coffee, but it's too expensive, so I'll just treat you to coffee, okay?

You : Okay, do you want to practice writing characters now?

Me : Not now, how about tomorrow afternoon?

You : Sure, let's meet at Starbucks tomorrow morning at 11, how's that?

Me : Okay, I only have one character to practice writing.

You : Sorry, my mom is calling me, can we meet tomorrow morning at 11?

Me : See you tomorrow.

Me : Hello, I want a small cup of coffee.

You : I'll pay for our coffee. How much is it?

Me : It's okay, I'll treat you.

Me : Thank you

Me : Please, have a seat.

You : Okay, what characters do you need to write?

Me : Can you teach me how to write the character "kuai"?

Me and you to the waiter : Thank you.

Me : You write really well, I write really slowly.

You : Nonsense, I have to go home now.

Me : Me too, thank you for helping me. Goodbye.

You : No problem, Goodbye
